

KEEP TRACK OF ALLERGIC ITCH

Week 1: Rate your dog's signs of itch every day and record it based on the rating system supplied.

Weeks 2 to 8: Rate your dog's signs of itch just once a week, on the same day each week. Put a "dot" in the appropriate column that best describes your dog's behaviors. When the dots are connected, you and your veterinarian will see the progress during treatment and how long the injection provided relief from your dog's skin allergies.

Rate your dog's signs of itch

- 100 Extremely severe
Dog is scratching, chewing, and licking almost continuously. It practically never stops, regardless of what else is happening. Quality of life is extremely compromised for both your dog and your family. Signs are affecting your dog's everyday routine, sleep, and mood.
- 80 Severe
Prolonged episodes of scratching and/or other signs when your dog is awake. These signs occur at night and also when eating, playing, or exercising. The continual signs are causing your dog to lose sleep and are affecting his/her moods and activities.
- 60 Moderate
Regular episodes of scratching while awake. Scratching and other signs may occur at night and wake your dog. But no scratching occurs when eating, playing, exercising, or being distracted.
- 40 Mild
Occasional episodes of scratching and/or other signs. There may be occasional episodes of scratching at night. No scratching occurs while sleeping, eating, playing, exercising, or being distracted.
- 20 Very mild
Scratching and/or other signs are a rare occurrence. Your dog is slightly itchier than before the condition began.
- 0 Normal
Woo-hoo! Itch is not a problem.

Quality of Life

How does itch affect your dog's quality of life?

Consider how everyday activities are impacted (eg, sleep, mood, activity, playfulness, interactions with other pets/humans).

How does your dog's itch affect your quality of life?

Think about how your dog's itch impacts you and your family—the emotional, social, and financial burden of their skin allergies (eg, waking up at night, not being able to attend events with your dog, the cost of ineffective treatments).
